A message from our interim Headteacher, Sue Ladipo ...

How my term at brilliant Primrose Hill has flown by; I have enjoyed every minute. Every member of staff has made me feel so welcome and all have been very open to new ideas and suggestions. I will be meeting with Robin in the holidays and there will be a very thorough handover, so that the school will continue to run smoothly and effectively.

Primrose Hill is an outstanding school in every sense of the word; and one of the aspects that make it so – apart from its brilliant staff and children - is the number of active parents who care deeply about their children and the progress they make. It has been a privilege to be a part of your community, albeit briefly, and I wish the school and its new headteacher continued success.

In the meantime, I would like to wish you all a very happy Easter holiday. Remember all the marvellous free facilities in our beautiful city; parks, museums and libraries as well as interesting places like the Southbank and Covent garden where there is always loads going on in the streets and walkways.

And finally, if you just want a quiet holiday, the best advice I can give to parents and children is just "GET LOST IN A BOOK."
