The Y6 have been enjoying glorious sunshine and fun in Weymouth at their School Journey. The weather could not have been better. I hope you have been following their adventures on the Twitter feed, but some photos feature in this weeks newsletter. It really is a wonderful opportunity for the children to have fun and be independent and try all sorts of new activities. Expect some very tired people this evening! Robin

A Big Move

On Monday Robin set the Reception classes an important project. As they are the Reception experts they are going to become architects and designers and help to create an amazing new Reception Ladybird classroom. They first thought about all the things a classroom needed and wrote lists to Robin, he was amazed to find they couldn't find radiators and told them there is under floor heating! Next, they drew architect plans of the new classroom and even met real architects as they were walking around the school. They also asked the nursery children the things they liked to play with. Finally to end the week they created mood boards in teams of all the areas you would find in the classroom and presented them to their classmates.

Next week they will begin moving the furniture and helping to create the different areas they planned.

Happy bags are coming at the end of July so if you are having a summer clear out please bring any unwanted clothes, shoes or toys to school. We made over £300 last time. Thank you!

Chickens

Hello Primrose Hillians, hope you have been enjoying the weather. We have been away for the week. It is our annual Wild Fowl residential. What fun we had. Rock climbing, (Madonna got in a right flap) kayaking (it is not easy holding a paddle with wings) and the giant swing. (To be honest that was just like flying while holding onto a pole.) We love Egmont Bay. It finished with the great eggspectation disco. What a night! Cyndi won the limbo by miles. She bought a whole new meaning to how low can you go. Back now and looking forward to sports days and Summer fairs. Plus the garden looks amazing. Carrots, cucumbers, even globe artichokes. We are very lucky hens. See you all next week! Madonna & Cyndi
