ps

Click on the link above and watch the video clip about Andy Goldsworthy who is a Scottish artist. He loved to make art using natural materials he found outside. If you can, go somewhere outside your home where it is safe to pick up materials (e.g. your own garden) or otherwise (as we are isolating at the moment) look around your home for objects you could use. An example could be pasta pieces, cutlery, lego, pencils...use your imagination! Make your own artwork just like Andy Goldsworthy. Take a photo of your masterpiece and leave it there if it's in your garden for other people to see. You could ask someone else in you home who is not isolating to collect some leaves/twigs/conkers/acorns/pebbles in a bag and take them home to make a smaller piece of art. Remember to take a photo and upload your creation onto Tapestry!
